FROM THE PEN OF THE PARISH PRIEST

Dear Friends,

One of the biggest fears people are starting to talk about at this time when many of us are isolating ourselves is the loneliness. This might well be felt most keenly by those of us who live alone, but should not be underestimated even when we live in family units.

At times like these, people will need to find ways of staving off the loneliness and keeping in touch with others, even as they must maintain government advice and observe social distancing. Telephones are going to offer a lifeline in these times, as will social media, for those of us who have a computer or smart phone.

But we are not simply social beings - we are spiritual beings, too, and while we're all concerned for our physical health, we need to look after our spiritual health. This can be really difficult at a time when the Church of England has cancelled all public acts of worship. But there are a number of ways we can look after our spiritual health, especially at this time as we move from Lent and Passiontide into Easter.

The Jesuits in Britain have produced a wonderful website called Pray As You Go, which was originally created with busy people in mind. It's one I used for many years, having downloaded it as an app. It can be wonderful to find some time and space to listen to someone reading one of the portions of scripture for the day, with questions to help ponder the words and a piece of music to help reflections. Go to the following webpage to try it: pray-as-you-go.org.

You could, of course, follow the daily round of prayer offered by the Church of England online, if you'd like something with the potential to be a bit more rigorous. No need for a Bible or a prayer book - just go to the following webpage and everything will appear: www.churchofengland.org/prayer-and-worship/join-us-service-daily-prayer.

However we choose to feed our spiritual lives, it's important that we do take time to make sure we look after all aspects of our health, and that we take our spiritual health seriously. At times like these, we need one another more than ever, to reassure one another of our love. We have been created for connection - to connect with God and to connect with one another.

That is the message of Easter, that God wants to connect with us through the Resurrection of Jesus. We just need to make sure that, even though our celebration of Easter this year will feel a little bit strange, we make time to connect, for it is the love we find in those connections that will cast our fear, and that brings us life.
